adidas ClimaCool race wear incorporates proven technologies to provide a high level of protection whilst also affording greater performance, stamina and comfort for the driver.

Developed in conjunction with a leading research facility and adidas development drivers from NASCAR, IndyCar, LMP1 & GT to offer maximum cooling and breathability in the most demanding environments.

ClimaCool fabrics actively conduct heat and sweat away from the body through a combination of heat and moisture dissipating materials and three-dimensional fabrics that allow air to circulate close to the skin and reduce core body temperature.

Featuring 3-D engineering and flex panels in key areas to boost athletic freedom of movement and provide great comfort whilst in the driving position.
